

Please Leave AS IS unless they

Find More Results for Search FCC set to drop ban on f-word, nudity on television and radio stations nationwide! and Register Now at the Internet's Largest Christian Forum!

Can be improved from what they are.

Christian Forums > Congregation > Christian Communities > Baptists

FCC set to drop ban on f-word

User Name User Name ☐ Remember Me?

Password

English

Prayers

Jobs

Calendar

Hit Your Target!
Let E-Store Help.

- Personal Health
- Short Term Medical
- Dental & Vision
- Critical Illness
- Disability Income

Become a CF Site Supporter
Today and Make These Ads
Go Away!

Advertise
Here

Baptists The forum for Baptist and other similar denominations.

Hit Your Target!
Let E-Store Help.

- Personal Health
- Short Term Medical
- Dental & Vision
- Critical Illness
- Disability Income

Copyright © 2012 Golden Gate Insurance Company. The underwriter and administrator of these plans marketed under the "Golden Gate" brand. Products and plan features vary by state. All the corporate use.

POST REPLY

8th April 2013, 05:54 PM

savedfromdistraction

Regular Member

63

Join Date: 30th December 2006
Location: Texas
Posts: 778
Blessings: 75,576
My Mood:
Reps: 8,828,183,405,006,238 (power: 8,828,183,405,013)

FCC set to drop ban on f-word

FCC set to drop ban on f-word, nudity on television and radio stations nationwide

They are seeking public comments; make your voice count!

April 8, 2013

The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) announced it is considering dropping current broadcast decency standards that ban explicit profanity and "non-sexual" nudity.

You can read the press release from the FCC here.

Specifically, if enacted, the new FCC policy would allow network television and local radio stations to air the f-word, the s-word and to allow programs to show frontal female nudity, even during hours when they know children will be watching and listening.

It is accepting comments on the proposal from the viewing public until the end of April.

Current broadcast decency law prohibits expletives and nudity, even if brief or "fleeting." The Supreme Court has upheld the law as constitutionally enforceable by the FCC, despite lawsuit attempts by networks NBC and FOX to overturn it.

TAKE ACTION

Submit your comments to the FCC, urging it to reject any changes to the current policy.

The FCC will not accept general email comments. To be valid, you are required to file a formal comment via the FCC's website.

Please follow these instruction carefully, to insure your comment is accepted by the FCC:

1. Go to ECFS Express Upload Form.
2. Enter the code "13-86" in the "Proceeding Number" box and fill out the few remaining required fields.
3. Enter your comment in the text box provided and click "Continue."
4. From there, review your comment and click "Confirm."

Here is a sample comment you may submit:

I oppose any changes to the current FCC indecency standards that would allow television and radio stations to Please leave at least, "AS IS," They are indecent enough!

Mark A. Davis

<http://www.christianforums.com/t7737449/>

4/9/2013

Norton delivers
5 patented layers of powerful protection

Introducing the all new Norton lineup. Built to keep you safe, no matter
what you do online.

FIND THE RIGHT
PROTECTION

